ABOUT ME

A curious and a hard working visual communication designer, from the city of joy, Kolkata. My originality, creativity and a pinch of my sense of humour brings positivity in my designs. My nature of exploring different ideas and styles helps me analyse and critique my own work. The designer within me is able to handle multiple tasks on a daily basis, handle group projects as well as individual projects. Always energetic and eager to learn new skills. Looking to capture as much exposure as possible.
